On behalf of the European Polymer Federation EPF, and the group of polymers GEP of the Spanish Royal Chemistry and Royal Physics Societies, I would like to send a cordial and warm invitation to participate in the forthcoming EUROPEAN POLYMER CONGRESS EPF2011, and XII CONGRESS OF THE SPECIALIZED GROUP OF POLYMERS GEP, which will be held in the GRANADA CONGRESS CENTRE "Palacio de Exposiciones y Congresos" , from the 26th June until the first of July, 2011. This international conference centre is placed in the centre of the historical and wonderful city of GRANADA which provides a unique opportunity to combine the participation in the sessions of the most important meeting held in Europe, and discover the magic and wonderful city visiting the well recognized historical sites considered as HERITAGE OF THE MANKIND.

EPF2011 and GEP2011 continue a series of successful and stimulating meetings in the most relevant topics on Polymer Science and Technology, with emphasis in the role of the Chemistry in the development of this field, since 2011 has been considered as the International Year of the Chemistry by the IUPAC.

Universally recognized plenary conference speakers have confirmed their participation (see the list in the section), and selected invited speakers will contribute to offer a complete program with 12 plenary conferences, 60 invited lectures, about 350 oral presentations, and a selected number OF POSTERS.

Over 1.200 visitors are expected to attend this annual edition and the venue, the Palacio de Congresos y Exposiciones de Granada, will be a great frame to present your products to a highly specialized audience.

We are sure that our meeting will provide a great opportunity for your Company to build presence, gain brand recognition and be associated with our high quality scientific content while establishing a relationship with our attendees. The local organizing committee will be proud to meet you in Granada.

Prof. Julio San Roman
EPF2011 Chairman

VENUE

Since the Exhibition and Conference Centre was built, communications infrastructure and hotel services have increased in both quantity and quality, necessary to face the great demand from this sector, which brings in great economic benefits for the province. Although not unique, the Exhibition and Conference Centre is the main centre for these sorts of events. It is a building with a modern, functional design, located right in the centre of Granada, equipped with the most advanced technology services: videoconferencing via satellite, a digital phone switchboard with a whole range of communication protocols, more than three thousand voice and information connections, closed circuit TV and a simultaneous translation system, to name but a few.

The Centre has nine halls with an overall capacity of 3,560 people, spread over seven levels. The biggest ones are the García Lorca Hall which can hold 2,000 delegates, and the Manuel de Falla Hall, which can take up to 560 people. The rest, with less capacity, offer a wide range of possibilities and can adapt to meet the needs of organisers of any event. Together the building's two "hall" areas have a total area of 3,000 squared metres, ideal for setting up exhibitions and fairs.

Granada, a member of the European Conference Cities Federation, has acted in recent years to increase the range of facilities it offers this sector. Apart from the Centre, there is also a great range of hotels and centres suited to holding conventions, workshops and symposia in the city and province. From these the most notable are the Fermasa Fairs complex in Armilla and the Manuel de Falla Auditorium. Moreover, many businesses which specialise in organising conferences also offer secretarial, protocol, conference hostess, and translation and press services.
